Constipation
Demands prompt treatment. The results of neglect may be serious. Avoid all harsh and drastic purgatives, the tendency of which is to weaken the bowels. The best remedy is Ayer's Pills. Being purely vegetable, their action is prompt and their effect always beneficial. They are an admirable Liver and After-dinner pill, and everywhere endorsed by the profession.

"Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."—Dr. I. E. Fowler, Bridgeport, Conn.

"I can recommend Ayer's Pills above all others, having long proved their value as a cathartic for myself and family."—J. T. Hess, Leithsville, Pa.

Beam Down Upon the Visitors at the National Museum.

Plaster Casts of Noted Persons and Queer Manikins of the Various Races—An Interesting Collection.

Some queer likenesses of human beings of many nationalities and countries have been collected in plaster by the scientists at the National museum. In sizes these range from the heroic to miniature, the last class including a large number of dolls which illustrate the different races of mankind. The dolls of savages in this group are perhaps the most instructive of all. These, to savage people, are something more than toys, for with them the savage mothers instruct their offspring in the domestic arts. Several curious stories are told of the work done by sculptors at the museum in the construction of manikins.

The collection, says the National Tribune, includes a number of heads which have an interesting history. From one of the shelves there looks down a plaster mask of the late Joseph Francis. It is in one of the less-frequented corners, and attracts no attention from the thousands of visitors who pass through the building weekly. He was the inventor of lifeboats, and the museum has several valuable specimens of his invention. He was a friend of the museum, and the mask was taken only a short while before he died. The eyes are closed, and, just as in a death mask, there is a lack of expression.

A companion mask near that of Mr. Francis is one from Gen. Greely, the present head of the signal corps, distinguished for his travels in the far north. The reproduction of the features is well-nigh perfect, except for a slight distortion of the muscles, caused by the pulling down of the plaster. The mask is of the entire head, except the lower part, which is omitted, that the mask may be taken off entire. These masks were made by Theodore A. Mills, the sculptor, who has done considerable creditable work of this kind at the museum. He makes them very quickly, each occupying only about fifteen minutes.

One advantage in leaving off the lower part of the face is that it allows the person to breathe freely, and this part can be added afterward without difficulty. Most sculptors, however, spread the plaster down over the lower part of the face, and insert straws in the nostrils to allow the subject to breathe. These masks, taken while the subject is in excellent health, are the best means known for preserving the features. Death masks are usually unsatisfactory, because the face is then usually emaciated and the eyes sunken. The expression then is far from satisfactory. Life would also be of great assistance to sculptors in molding busts and statues.

People visiting the museum sometimes marvel at the life-like proportions of the many lay figures which adorn the different collections. The scientists have acquired a great proficiency in this kind of work, and it is not far from the truth to say that a close inspection of the delicately-formed hands and feet, as well as arms and lower limbs, would show intimate friends that prominent people in Washington have been utilized to grace the collections of Indian peoples, wild tribes of Borneo, and other races. That has come to be one of the penalties of being a sculptor's friend, for he will insist upon casts with which to frame his manikins. The different parts of the body of a man or a woman can be taken separately, and then joined together with putty. A very lifelike effect is produced in this way. The only part of the body which cannot be taken in a cast is the abdomen, and this is because the breathing would interfere with the forming of the plaster.

The sculptor has to exercise much care in preparing his casts from living subjects. Take the hand as an example. It has first to be carefully oiled, that all the hairs may be smoothed down. If this were not done, they would become fastened in the plaster, and the process of taking off the mold would be little short of torture. The molds are cut open and sometimes broken in being taken off, but they can then be glued together, when plaster is poured in and an exact likeness of the hand obtained. The oil on the inside of the mold prevents the new plaster from adhering to it. There are several preparations for making casts, some of which are flexible. This flexible material was used for making casts of snakes, of which the museum has a large and extensive collection. For the dark or red-skinned races the casts are easily tinted or painted to represent the desired color.

The collection of dolls at the museum is the largest in the world. Some of the Esquimau dolls are probably the most valuable, and they certainly are instructive. Among these is a trick doll with a string attachment to move its head from one side to the other. One of these dolls is from Point Barrow, Alaska, and it is fashioned from driftwood which the natives of that region picked up on the beach. The dress of the doll is made of seal gut. Some of the dolls are made out of ivory, whole Esquiman families interesting themselves during the long northern nights in doll manufacturing. The collection also includes many dolls of the Zuni Indians, who utilize them to teach their children religion.

LIZARDS IN A TRANCE.

One Medical Authority Regards It as a Kind of Hypnotism.

An English scientific journal has received an interesting communication on the subject of the so-called "death-feigning instinct" of certain reptiles, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

The correspondent, who writes from Syria, says that when a certain species of Egyptian lizard is captured, it makes a few vigorous efforts to escape, and then, if held firmly, falls into a limp, motionless state, which might easily lead an inexperienced person to think it dead. The animal, however, is simply in a trance-like condition.

Gentle respiratory movements are visible just behind the shoulders, and sometimes show a rising and falling rhythm with short intervals of complete rest; the eyes remain wide open, but are commonly half closed, and the lids wink slowly from time to time spontaneously or by reflex action; the mouth is almost open, sometimes wide, sometimes but little—and in either case the jaw is quite rigid, and if closed by force is apt to reopen when the pressure is withdrawn; the limbs lie extended and semi-flaccid, with some approach to a cataleptic condition, i. e., if bent or stretched into position not too strained, they maintain such positions when let go; and the same is true of the trunk and tail.

A pin may be run through a fold of the skin, without fully rousing the animal, a sluggish, feeble wriggle being the sole result. The trance usually lasts about five minutes, when the animal by a brusque effort assumes its normal position. This done, it lies quite still, but evidently awake and observant for a few moments more, and then scuttles off in a hurry.

Dr. Van Dyck looks upon this manifestation not as voluntary or conscious death-feigning, but as a form of hypnotism. The natural enemies of these lizards are foxes, jackals, martens, birds of prey and snakes.

"Can anyone believe," asks Dr. Van Dyck, "that any one of these animals, having captured a lizard, would be in the least inclined to let it go because it lay motionless and apparently dead in the captor's grasp? Or will it be argued that the trance condition is a special gift 'in mercy to the victim, to mitigate or abolish the pain of death?'"

WHERE BIG GAME IS PLENTY.

In "Lion Hunting in Somaliland," Capt. C. J. Melliss tells how he first found himself face to face with two full-grown lions. He started from Berbera for the Hand with ten camels, a dozen Somalis, two donkeys, a pony and two months' provisions.

The game on the route were gazelle, antelopes, guinea fowl and bustards, and at night jackals and hyenas. Shortly after reaching the Hand, which is a great waterless plateau, he met the two lions, "actually waiting for me," he writes, "all to myself; a vast plain on all sides, clear of jungle as a lawn, not another bush even in sight.

"I was going to get them, or they get me. That was the only uncertainty in the whole thing."

He goes on to say that what struck him most forcibly on seeing a wild lion for the first time was that there was none of that slim, weak appearance in the hind quarters which is so visible in caged lions.

Capt. Melliss used a much heavier charge than Mr. Selaus, and seems to have had little difficulty in disabling a lion with a well-aimed shot. When he had killed them, the lions were skinned and the hides tied behind two horsemen.

He describes vividly his delight after his first day's shooting. "I shall never forget the pleasure of it," he says. "What a paradise the country seemed as my eyes wandered from the two great heads at the cruppers to the wild herds scattered over the plain."

In four days he shot no less than five lions and eight lionesses and captured four cubs.

Capt. Melliss usually rode up and dismounted to shoot, but a much more exciting way, which he occasionally experienced, was to track the lion's spoor and follow him into the jungle on foot.

What's In a Word?

If any of our readers, in looking over articles on electric railways in the German language, should come across the word Strassenbahnwagenuntergestelle, says the Electrical World, they need not be alarmed or discouraged, nor afraid to use it in good society. Instead of getting at the subject directly, as is done in English, this single word relates quite a little story—a sort of riddle of which you are expected to guess the answer. The story is, briefly, as follows: In about the middle of the word we find that the object referred to has some connection with a car, and, returning to the beginning, it appears that this car is intended to run on rails (as cars usually do, by the way); that these rails are in the streets of a city, and that the car is supported on some structure; near the end it is explained that this supporting structure is below, and not above, the car, and, finally, it is added that it refers to the apparatus in general, and not to any one form in particular. With the aid of this description it will not be difficult to guess correctly that the German writer would have said trucks instead had he been privileged to use the English language. It seems to us that this verbal machine is somewhat over-compounded.

PITTSBURGH'S LAW LIBRARY.

Contains Acts of Scottish Parliament and Many Valuable Reference Books.

The Allegheny county law library in Pittsburgh is the pride of the judges and the lawyers and the constant reference for all of them. It contains twenty-eight thousand five hundred volumes and embraces the decisions of the superior courts of every nation where jurisprudence is known and practiced. It had a slender beginning, says the Pittsburgh Times, but wise providers, and now, while its possessions are increased at considerable cost yearly, the cost to the lawyers, for whose especial benefit it is, is nothing. The total expenses are not more than five thousand dollars annually, and this money is paid by the county commissioners.

Ranged on the shelves are decisions of the Indian court of appeals, and below them are the deliverances of the erudite, bewigged and begowned justices of the courts of England, whence all law comes. There are copies of the reports of every state and territory, and reviews of the important causes which have been decided by the courts of France. Most of the books are printed in English, though some of them are in French, German and Latin. One volume from the supreme court contains a daringly precise recital of a love case, which must have excited state-wide comment from the fluent detail dealt out by the learned and grave judges; the admixture of passion and pistol makes it a thrilling story. It is soiled by the touch of many thumbs and seems to have been much read in preference to the dry diagnosis of the technicalities of suits involving property rights.

There are some treasures in the library which are highly prized. The oldest book is a copy of the acts of the Scottish parliament from 1124 to 1423. It contains charters and seals that are so yellowed with age as to be in parts undecipherable. Another revered volume is Fitz Gibbons' reports of the cases argued at the king's bench in Westminster, London, during the five years of the reign of George II. This book begins with the date of 1732, and its leaves are eaten by worms. The type is of a large German character. This is probably the only copy in America. The Scotch acts, from 1424 to 1621, contain the laws of parliaments during the reigns of King James and Queen Mary in one part, and the acts during the reign of King Charles I. and II., and the convention of estates of Scotland in 1665, 1667 and 1678, in the other. The duke of York's "Book of Laws" of 1676 to 1682 has all the autographs of the governors and presidents of the councils of Pennsylvania during those years. The list includes the flourished chirography of William Penn. There is also a fac-simile of the charter granted by King Charles II. to Penn.

THE WRITERS.

FULLY 23,000 persons annually visit the birthplace of Shakespeare. About one-fourth of them are Americans.

A HISTORY of the vatican archives by Don Gregorio Palmieri is nearly ready, and will be published before the end of the year.

RATANBAI, a tale of Hindu schoolgirl life by a Hindu woman, Shevintibai M. Nikamba, and dedicated to Queen Victoria, has just been published in London.

MARY E. WILKINS is in luck. She's not only the leading novelist in New England, but has won a $2,000 prize for the best short detective story—a new field for her—with Mr. Chamberlin, of the Boston Transcript, as collaborator.

FRIEDRICH SPIELHAGEN, the novelist, delivered the oration at the recent meeting of the Goethe society at Weimar. He asserted that Werther and Hermann and Dorothea will survive whatever becomes of Goethe's other works.

LORD ROSEBERY'S mother, the duchess of Cleveland, is writing the life of Lady Hester Stanhope, her aunt, who began life as the private secretary and confidant of William Pitt, and for thirty years had her own exact way as an Arab sheikh in Syria.

ODD BIBLES.

A BIBLE printed in London in 1551 was nicknamed the Bug Bible from the first verse of the ninety-first Psalm being translated: "So that thou shalt not nede to be afraid for any bugges by nighte." The authorized version is: "Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night."

THE Vinegar Bible, published in Oxford by J. Baskett in 1717, gets its name because the headline of the twentieth chapter of Luke reads: "The parable of vinegar" instead of the vineyard. It has also from its numerous faults been punningly described as "a basket full of printers' errors."

THE Breeches Bible served as the regular family Bible in the reign of Elizabeth. The translation was made by the English reformers in exile at Geneva and was published in 1566. It gained its name because in Genesis, iii., 7, Adam and Eve are spoken of as making themselves "breeches out of fig leaves."

LOVE ON THE WHEEL.

They Will Hereafter Ride on a Bicycle Built for Two.

"Then you wish me never to return?"

"Never," she answered, with an effort that cost her much. There was now no doubt in her mind that she loved him. If she had ever questioned the fact in those hours of solitude when she subjected her heart to the severe scrutiny of her reason, now in the cold moment of parting she did not doubt. He was going at her bidding, but how could it be otherwise? She was a woman of spirit and would not be dictated to, and when he said she must not ride a bicycle, her womanhood rebelled. Love will sacrifice much, but not all. The duties of a fiancee she was happy to meet and to perform; the responsibilities of wifehood, soon to be assumed, she was ready to assume, but how long can love last when it yields itself up a slave to tyranny? Not long in very truth.

"You must not ride a bicycle," he had said.

"Must not!" she cried, springing from his arms in which she had for the moment nestled.

"That's what I said," said he, petulantly. "It will make you round-shouldered."

She eyed him angrily for a moment.

"Round-shouldered!" she cried. "Oh, you men, you men! Had I married you and grown round-shouldered making my own dresses you would not have murmured. Had we gone hand in hand into poverty, and my shoulders grown round from bending over a laundry stove, you would have permitted it; but because I choose to acquire a hump-back riding a wheel for pleasure, you use that word—that wicked word must to me—who have loved you, declined to dance and drive with others for you—oh, George, George, George!"

"Well, I mean it," said he, calmly. "Choose between us—me or the bicycle—which is it to be?"

She made no answer, but walking to the porch, rang the bell of her wheel. It was his answer, and he realized it.

"I do not care for bicycling," she said, "but I can have no must nots in my life. Leave me."

He walked out into the night, and Parthenia, throwing herself limply upon her wheel, pedaled weepingly in the other direction, forgetting to light her lamp.

George Washburne walked moodily down the road, which one short hour before he traversed with so light a heart.

"Heigho!" said he. "All my life shattered in a moment. If she knew but how I loved her—if she could only have guessed my motive in speaking as I did—that I wished always to be at her side, and that, if she rode, I could not, since, try as I will, I cannot myself ride a wheel. It is beyond me, and yet I have not dared to confess to her that I have tried to learn and cannot. In his wife's eyes a man should be a hero, capable of all things. Supposing I had told her of the lessons I have taken in secret at the academy, of the dents my head has made in the hardwood floor, of the attendants I have run over and crippled, and the wheels I have shattered, until the manager of the place has told me—even as she has—never to return. It would have lowered me in her esteem. I cannot, cannot tell her, and shatter her respect for her former fiance."

As he spoke he reached his own front door, and was about to enter when his heart grew too full. "I cannot go in yet," he said. "I will at least walk back and gaze upon the light in her window."

Prey to melancholy, the unhappy man fulfilled his destiny. Back he walked, gloomily ruminating over the future, now so black. Deep in his thoughts he did not notice where he was going; he did not notice that he was passing Parthenia's house; he did not observe that he was ascending Coaster's hill a half mile beyond; he did not even hear a rumbling noise in the distance which should have taught him caution. Alas! thoughtless mortal: and yet how happily all transpired There came a crash, a thud, and a moan.

George Washburne lay unconscious in the road.

Pressing the prostrate man to the earth were the shattered remains of her wheel, its cyclometer resting on his vest pocket and its left pedal grasped firmly in the unconscious victim's hand.

It was spring. George Washburne, who had lain for three weeks delirious, opened his eyes. Reason had returned and his arm had knit.

"At last," sobbed a fair girl, who, with his sister, sat at the sick man's side.

"Where am I?" he gasped.

"Here, George," said Parthenia, for it was she. "Here. I'll never ride again."

"Sweetheart, was it you?" he murmured.

"It was, George," she answered, with a sob. "I had not lit my lamp—and I was coasting—and then—then it happened. But never mind, my darling, I shall never bike again."

"Oh, my love," he said, grasping her hand and lifting it to his lips, "do not say that. Bike as much as you will; the wheel that I maligned brought us together again. We owe it much. I will tell you why I objected."

And then he told her all; how he had tried to learn, and could not; and how the desire to be with her always had led him to speak as he had. And she, imprinting a kiss upon his forehead, comforted him.

"You are right, darling," she said. "We will get a bicyck built for two, and I will work the pedals, while you can sit on the hind seat and whisper words of love in my ear."

His answer was a smile, and happiness once more dawned for George Washburne and Parthenia Hicksworthy. They were wed last week, and the groom's gift to the bride was a nickel-plated safety for two, with a russet leather tool chest and gold wire guards to keep her skirts free from the wheel.—Harper's Bazar.

Difference in Voices.

One's surprise in the fact that no two person's voices are perfectly alike ceases when one is informed by an authority that, though there are only nine perfect tones to the human voice, there are the astonishing number of 17,592,115,044,415 different sounds. Of these, fourteen direct muscles produce 16,382, and thirteen indirect muscles produce 173,741,823.

THE BLOODHOUND'S SCENT.

One Who Knows Says It Has Been Overestimated.

Hon. R. H. Chinn, formerly of New Orleans, now of Vacaville, Cal., well known in St. Louis, had this to say to a Star-Sayings reporter about bloodhounds and trail dogs a few days ago:

"I have yet to meet the first man who ever saw a bloodhound in our southern country. They are too ferocious for domestic purposes and are not trace dogs.

"I carried some a few years ago to the island of Cuba—a Siberian bloodhound and an English bloodhound pup. The government officials had the former caged with latticed iron bars before allowing him to land, on account of his ferocious appearance. He was taken to my plantation and an iron muzzle placed on him, and even then the fear of his doing serious damage caused him to be killed. The English pup for the same reason was sent to the Lyons brewery for safe keeping.

"The foxhound, a lazy, worthless dog apparently, is the trail dog, trained to pursue fugitives from justice. I had such a dog. The mode of training was to put him in a room, to be fed and handled by only one person, until grown. Then, after being scantily fed for two or three days, a bone with a little meat was given him; while gnawing this bone his trainer fought him with his hat, took the bone from him, went some distance, and climbed a tree. The dog upon being released took his trail and traced him. Being treated in the same way the next day, the trainer took the bone a mile off and was trailed. The dog was then trained and ready for his work. When anyone was missing it was only necessary to give the dog a small piece of any portion of his wearing apparel and tell him 'hunt the man.' He was off running immediately. So eager would he be in his pursuit he would run over small children, between the legs of larger ones, his head close to the ground, perfectly oblivious to all impediments in his way when the trail was hot. This trailing was frequently done twelve hours after the missing man had disappeared and never in a single instance was the dog known to deceive or fail in his hunt. He would chase the fugitive through bushes and briers, across creeks, over burnt canefields, and would invariably bring him to bay. During three years of service he was never known to bite or injure anyone.

"All the blood-curdling tales we have heard of hunting people on Cuban and southern plantations with bloodhounds are a farce. Trace hounds are not fierce; they were never known to injure a man and were easily repelled if they attempted it. When the trail was cold he would follow it very quietly; now and then he would run in a circle or to the right and suddenly to the left. Frequently we would lose him in the underbrush, but when the trail got hot and he howled a horn was blown to encourage him and he was followed up by a horseman."

STATUE TURNED GREEN.

Astonishing Transformation in One Night Caused by Acid.

A singular transformation in the appearance of a statue of the great musician, Spohr, that stands in the market place of the town of Cassel, in Hesse-Nassau, Germany, recently caused consternation among the inhabitants of that sleepily little municipality, says the New York World. The good old burghers, the staid matrons and the frivolous young people all rubbed their eyes. They could hardly believe it, but there was no doubt that the statue had, over night, turned green. Hitherto the figure had stood in the market place, a stately memorial in bronze.

The Casselites concluded that supernatural means was not an explanation of particular value, and they investigated. It was found that an artful 'prentice boy had been the agent.

The statue was dirty and the town officials decided that it needed a thorough cleansing. They gave the job to a painter, and he thought the matter of so little importance that he turned it over to one of his apprentices, with the simple instruction to clean the statue well.

The boy had taken the matter seriously to heart and, perhaps, was inspired by his subject. It seemed to him that Spohr was deserving of more than mere water and a brush or cloth. He consulted a chemist, who was a friend of his, as to what would best clean bronze, and the chemist suggested hydrochloric acid. Speedily following its application Spohr became a beautiful green tint. The terrified 'prentice confessed on a promise of immunity.

WHIRR OF THE WHEEL.

THE female bicyclists in France are far more numerous than those of the other sex.

ANY person in France who is injured by an accident resulting from a structural defect in a bicycle, can recover damages from the manufacturer.

MISS REMIE LONDONBERRY, of Boston, the 'round-the-world bicyclist, has declined over 150 offers of marriage. She says she has saved $1,500. It isn't every girl who has wheels who can do that.

PRINCE CANTACUZENE started the bicycle craze among the members of the diplomatic corps in Washington. The prince, who is the Russian minister, astonished the capital when he began to take out his daughter on a wheel.

BISHOP CLEVELAND COXE has a bitter dislike to the riding of bicycles by women. Some one began to speak to him lately of "a lady on a bicycle," but he said impatiently: "Sir, you never saw a lady on a bicycle, and never will."

FRANCE is going to build at once two large cruisers of great power and speed, capable of competing with the British Terrible and our Columbia, and of overtaking the fast Atlantic liners. They will have a minimum contract speed of twenty-three knots, and must steam 7,500 knots at twelve knots an hour without recoaling.

CHANGES in the system of supplying ammunition to the French infantry have been made. Each man may carry 120 rounds, instead of 102, on his person, and just before action is supplied with 65 rounds from the company carts, 69 more rounds being kept in reserve. The corps park wagons provide 303 rounds per man instead of 221; these are distributed to the company wagons as fast as they are emptied.

M. FRANCOIS DE MONTHOLON, the handless landscape painter, received the Enigecourt-Goyon prize of 1,000 francs at the Champs Elysees salon. He paints with artificial jointed hands of wood. The Marie Baschkirtseff prize was given to Mlle. Dufare.

Sharpness of a Woman's Tongue.

A newly-married couple on the train near Gainesville, Ga., the other day, attracted a good deal of attention by their peculiar behavior. A lady got on the train at a station, and took a seat in front of them. Scarcely was she seated before they commenced making remarks in loud whispers about her wearing last season's hat and dress. She was severely criticised by them for some moments. Presently the lady turned around. She noticed at a glance that the bride was older than the groom and, without the least resentment in her countenance, she said: "Madam, will you please have your son close the window behind you?" The son closed his mouth instead, and the bride did not giggle again for an hour.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

In accordance with the resolution passed at a meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee on July 2nd, 1895, I hereby give notice that the Democrats of Pennsylvania by their duly elected representatives will meet in State Convention in Williamsport on Wednesday, September 11, 1895, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for the placing in nomination candidates for the office of State Treasurer and Judges of the Superior Court, and for the transaction of such business as may be presented.

In accordance with rule 6, section 1, unanimously approved by the State Convention September 15, 1893, representatives shall consist of representative delegates, one for each one thousand votes cast at the last preceding presidential election or for a fraction of such vote amounting to five hundred or more, in the respective districts, provided that each representative district shall have at least one delegate.

R. E. WYNKOOP, Chairman.
MATT SAVAGE, Secretary.

THE libel suit of ex-Congressman Kribbs against the Clarion Jacksonian was ended on Saturday by the failure of the plaintiff to appear in court, and the indictment was quashed.

THE latest authentic advices in regard to the coming wheat harvest in the Dakotas and Minnesota put the aggregate of the product of the three states named from 170,000,000 to 175,000,000 bushels. If this is verified, and there appears to be no doubt on that point, the crop will be the largest on record.

THE well known traveler and explorer, Harry De Windt, in an interview at London Eng., on Monday said: "After a winter lecture tour in America I intend to start in April from Vancouver, via Sitka, to Mount St. Elias, whence I will attempt to cross a hitherto unexplored part of Alaska to Prince of Wales cape, and thence to cross East cape to Gizjiga, Okhuts, Yakutsk, Irkutsk, Tomsk, and home through Russia.

REPUBLICAN newspapers and delegates who have been sitting on the fence anxiously watching the result of the fight between Quay and the Combine and afraid to give any indication of the drift of their sympathies, will now be tumbling over each other in getting into the Quay camp. The result of the Republican primaries in Philadelphia on Tuesday makes it certain beyond all doubt that Quay will be elected chairman of the Republican state convention on Wednesday of next week.

IT is impossible to determine exactly the amount of money expended by the government during its existence in fighting Indians, but a conservative estimate makes it more than $1,000,000. The government has also spent during this time about $269,000,000 in governing and supporting these charges of the nation, and is at present disbursing about $7,000,000 annually for this purpose. It would appear that it has cost about four times as much to fight the red man as to pension him off.

THOMAS GIBSON, United States consul at Beyrout, has been ordered to go to Tarsus and inquire into the recent attack made on the American college there by fanatics.

At the instance of the United States minister, Mr. Alexander W. Terrell, the Vali of Erzeroum, will furnish an adequate escort to Mr. William A. Sachtleben, of New York, who is searching for the remains of Frank G. Lentz, the Pittsburg bicyclist, who was murdered while on his way through Armenia in an attempt to circle the globe on his wheel.

THE Pittsburg Leader, Republican, in speaking of the probability of a bolt in the Republican state convention, to be held at Harrisburg next week says: "The chief sufferer would be Hastings, whose reputation, already battered, would be wholly destroyed if he should connect himself with a rump convention and schism designed to ruin the Republican party in the state out of sheer spite. As far as Gilkeson is concerned, he has nothing to gain or lose. The frosty gentleman is a nonentity, and is now playing positively his last engagement upon any stage. The governor is known to be indiscreet. Magee is known to be unscrupulous and reckless. A bolt need not surprise anybody."

THE wool trade is growing with marvelous rapidity. In a letter to Assistant Secretary Hamlin of the treasury department at Washington, Mr. S. A. D. North, secretary of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers of the United States, after commenting on the increase in the value of wool, adds, "Wages in the woolen and worsted industry in the state of Rhode Island will be increased from 7½ to 12 per cent this month."

This is the second increase that has occurred in the wages of operatives in that section within the last 60 days. The other was from 10 to 15 per cent. and in all cases the advance was voluntary. Simultaneously with the first increase in Rhode Island, equal improvement was made in the wages of all other New England woolen, worsted and cotton operatives. It is to be hoped that the others will follow in this base.

These signs are not indicative of ruin either of the wool growers or manufacturers. On the contrary, they show a betterment in all branches of the trade and justify the predictions of the tariff reformers that the removal of the duty on wool would not only add to the value of the fleeces, but increase the business of the manufacturers. Those who labored to excite the fear of the woolgrowers have no doubt by this time discovered the groundlessness of their fears, and the country is the better for the change.

THE export of gold has, says the Philadelphia Record, occasioned no uneasiness, for several patent reasons. The outflow is a natural one. The gold has been sent to pay for goods purchased. Foreign investors are not drawing away our gold by sending back American securities. In a very few days we shall be large shippers and sellers of commodities, and in answer to the crop exports the tide of gold will set this way. The immediate steps taken by the government bond syndicate to fill the gap made in the treasury gold by deposits in excess of withdrawals is also an exceedingly reassuring occurrence.

There are many political pessimists, and doubtless many speculative operators in shares and stuffs, who would like to create a scare with the view to personal profit; but something more dubious and distressing than the recent shipments of gold must be disclosed to furnish a sufficient groundwork to build upon.

IT is easy to track the general demand in a dozen and more states "for better roads" directly to the riders of bicycle. It is one of the reforms that the new innovation is going to bring about. They will succeed first because they are united in their demand. They are young and vigorous and influential, more than that, it is a long neglected reform, in the success of which all the people will be benefited. Stop putting any more millions into railways until the country roads are made passable. In New York a committee appointed by the legislature is visiting the various counties and leading places and trying to formulate a state system that is better than anything before practiced in any state of the Union. Other states will follow the example.

THE conference of free silver Democrats at Washington last week was a fiasco. Although it adopted a resolution suggesting "that the Democratic party, in national convention assembled, should demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold into primary or redemption money at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the action or approval of any other nation," it did not go further than suggestion." There was no threat of revolt. All the proceedings were tame and timorous. It is only a matter of months when the 16 to 1 phase of bimetallism in the United States will die the death. As men find work to do, and fair wages for work, they have no time to spend in blowing cheap money bubbles or for marching with Coxey or Sibley.

ON Monday afternoon Ex-Associate Justice William Strong, of the United states supreme court, died at Lake Minnewaski, N. Y., aged 87. He was educated at Yale in 1828, engaged in the study of law, finishing his legal studies at Yale law school; being admitted to the bar in Pennsylvania in 1832, settling at Reading. In 1846 he was elected to congress as a Democrat, and re-elected in 1848, declining a third nomination. In 1857 he was elected a judge of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, serving eleven years. In 1868 he resigned his seat on the bench and resumed his law practice in Philadelphia. In 1870 he was appointed a justice of the United States supreme court, and served until December, 1880, when he resigned,

IT has been the rule and the exception to reduce the price of puddling in the iron manufacturing districts upon the slightest pretexts, and throughout the Schuylkill Valley the rate has fallen as low as $2.25 a ton. The extent of late voluntary advances on this rate will be better appreciated when it is considered that the third re-adjustment of the scale at Pottstown is an increase to $4.25., and at Pittsburg $4 25. An increase of this character is the best practical evidence that in the advance in the selling prices of iron has every indication of being permanent and that the improvement in business and trade conditions is unquestionably solid and thorough. The new tariff schedule is a market winner for the country.

A TELEGRAM from Vienna to a London paper says that a Russian artillery barracks at Toulu was undermined and blown up, killing three hundred soldiers. Several arrests of suspected persons have been made. The Nihilist enemies of the Czar will resort to anything to compel him to give his oppressed subjects a milder form of government.

Lives Lost in a Storm.

San Francisco, Aug.—Widespread destruction and appaling loss of life were caused in Japan by a fearful storm on July 24 and 25. The hurricane swept across Kiusha, passing along the shores of the Island sea, crossed over the central districts of the mainland and emerged into the Pacific ocean. Its track was everywhere marked by a great loss of life and destruction of property, and as the catastrophe was followed by a heavy rain storm, inundations added their devastating effects to the havoc wrought by the wind. It is calculated that over 1,000 people were killed or drowned. Ujina, the town that served as a military basis during the recent war, felt the full force of the tempest. The place was completely swamped by the sea, and over 150 boats were smashed. Among those boats were 120 belonging to the army stores department. They were laden with supplies destined for the use of the troops in the Liao Tung peninsula.

A Bottomless Pit.

Cadiz, O. Aug. 18.—In Stock township, this county, is situated a yawning cavern that has few equals. When it was discovered it was found to have a large hill and was about 70 feet in length and had a fall of about 20 feet in that distance. Then the passage comes to a sudden end, terminating in a large chamber, the size of which cannot be learned. Rock and other debris were tossed into the cavern, and no sound except a rushing noise as the missiles started to descend could be heard. Torches and firebrands were also thrown in, but their rapid descent seemed to extinguish them. A rope over 40 feet in length was lowered into the abyss, but would swing clear of everything. There is a belief that the hole is bottomless. Some sheep have been lost in the cavern, and it is now covered with logs.

A Very Rich Russian Minister.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—The new Russian minister to the United States, Mr. De Kotzebue, who will succeed Prince Cantacuzene, proves to be a brother-in-law of that gentleman. He has been stationed at Paris, where for many years he has discharged the duties of counselor and first secretary of the Muscovite Embassy.

He is the owner of vast estates in the Baltic provinces of Russia, and is reported to be a society man in the broadest acceptation of the term.

It is said that the reason for the change and the transfer to Stuttgart of the present minister is due to Prince Cantacuzene's desire to personally oversee the education of his daughter, the young princess, who has developed unusual talent as an artist and musician.

Cannot Give Up the Flags.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 19.—In the state library at Frankford, are 72 flags carried by Federal troops of Kentucky in the war. Mrs. Thomas F. Hargis, of the commitee on decoration for the coming national encampment of the grand army, conceived the idea that they would aid in the decoration of the headquarters, and made application to Secretary of State Headly for their use, it was not in his power to grant the request, and it was referred to Governor Brown.

Governor Brown was willing, but found that the flags became the property of the state in such a manner that they can be loaned only by an act of the legislature. Accordingly he expressed deep regret that he could not permit the flags to be removed.

A Tragedy of Highland Lake.

Port Jervis, N. Y., August 19.—The body of Charles Taeterrow, reported to have been drowned in Highland lake, near Eldred, Sullivan county, was dragged up from the bottom of the lake on Friday. On his person was $17.50 and a gold watch. William Taeterow, his brother says he had on his person $350, and believes he met with foul play. Saturday the bodies of W. Pilgrim and another man, who were in the company of Taeterow, were fished up. The wounds of Taeterow would indicate a struggle in the boat, which capsized and threw all overboard.

Rebel Bands Routed.

Havana, Aug. 19.—Advices from Santa Clara are that Col. Palanca routed at Loma Siguaney, in the Sancti Spiritus district, several rebel bands under the command of Roloff and Sanchez. Sixty rebels were killed while the government forces lost two killed and eight wounded. The rebels fled into the province of Puerto Principe, and were pursued by the troops.

Col. Oliver reports from Remedois that his troops had a battle with the rebels near Rojas, and that the insurgent loss was heavy.

It is believed the rebels have burned the village of Barajagua.

Struck a Coal Vein.

Pottsville, Aug. 19.—The Thomas Coal Company has struck the Lykens vein at its collery in the Shenandoah valley. The vein has proved seven and one half feet of good coal. This is a new discovery and will be a source of much wealth to the land owners in that valley among whom are the Philadelphia and reading Coal and Iron company and the Girard estate.

The vein was intersected after a tunnel was driven 500 feet. Many of the coal authorities have heretofore held that the Lykens vein did not underlie the other coal seams in this vicinity but the Thomas company management is now satisfied the theory has been wrong.

A Narrow Escape.

Zanesville, O. Aug. 18.—While Mrs. A. H. Hull and her daughter were out driving this evening their horse became frightened as it was descending Putman hill, directly toward the river, and dashing through the fence, was killed on rocks 30 feet below. The horse was torn loose from the vehicle as it plunged through the fence, and the latter remained on the edge of the embankment for just one minute, while the mother and daughter jumped to a place of safety, when it, too, plunged over the brink, and was dashed to pieces. The daughter suffered painful injuries in her side and the mother a broken wrist.

Saw Her Child Killed.

Chester, Pa., August 19.—Twelve-year old Mary Brewester, of 605 Barclay street, was struck by an express train and died after being removed to her home. Her mother made a narrrow escape. It appears they attempted to cross the track after a northbound train passed, but catching sight of the express coming Mrs. Brewster jumped back, dragging the child, but she was too late, and the engine struck Mary, hurling the body many feet.

A Train's Terrible Plunge.

Toccoa, Ga., Aug. 18.—The most frightful wreck ever caused by a railroad accident in this vicinity occurred at the 81-mile post on the Southern railroad to-day. Last night the fast train to Washington met with an accident four miles from here, and that anybody lives to tell the tale is a wonder.

From Mount Airy to Toccoa there is a steep down grade, and the train was moving fully 60 miles an hour when the tender left the track. The engine cut loose and the cars, with the exception of the sleeper, went off a 40 foot embankment.

Express Messenger R. M. Geer, of Columbia, S. C., was killed, and Robert James, a negro, was fatally injured James was in the express car.

The passengers were bruised, but that was all. The engineer could not stop his engine, and for five miles it ran away. He says he must have gone 100 miles an hour.

B. F. Kolb, who was formerly so determined to be governor of Alabama, was detained four hours in the wreck. He said: "It is the worst I ever saw. How a soul escaped alive is a miracle that providence alone can explain.

One Italian Kills Another.

Chester, Pa., Aug. 18.—Emides Volpe shot and killed Jenerose Coligeno between 12 and 1 o'clock this morning at the home of the former at Felton, a suburb of Chester, on the line of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. The men are Italians, and after the shooting Volpe came to this city and gave himself up to the police. His statement is that Coligeno had entered the room of his 15 year old daughter Lizzie by means of a back door. Her screams awakened her father who was sleeping down stairs and he seized a double barreled shot gun and fired one shot at the intruder and ordered him away. Coligeno threatened to kill Volpe and the latter then fired a second time. The contents of the barrel tore a hole in the left breast of Coligeno and entered his heart, killing him instantly. The victim was 25 years of age and dangerous, according to the statements of several of his countrymen, and was known to be always armed. The affair has caused much excitement among the Italians.

Fell Into a Den of Snakes.

Beaver Falls, Pa., Aug. 19.—This morning Willie Nichols and George Hutchinson, two small boys, met with a remarkakle adventure while gathering elderberries at Wallace Run, north of this place. In rambeling over the rocks Hutchinson fell into a hole six feet deep, concealed by the underbrush. He was not injured, but could not get out. He called Nichols to his assistance, and the latter fell into the hole also, and a minute later both boys were filled with terror to find themselves surround by a mass of hissing, squirming snakes of all sizes. The boys had fallen into a snake den. Wild with fear they scrambled out and ran for home. Before leaving, however, they looked into the den and noticed that the snakes had engaged in a deadly combat with each other. On their way home they told their adventure. Two farmers visited the place and found 40 or 50 dead snakes, principally little ones, lying in the bottom of the den. They saw no living ones.

Shot Dead by a Brother.

Yonkers, Aug. 18.—This afternoon Louis Isinger, 18 years old, a farm hand living at Worthington, near Ardsley, accidentally shot and instantly killed his sister, Mrs. George Smith. The dead woman was 35 years old. Her husband is a farmer at Worthington. Her brother lived with them.

This afternoon Isinger set up a barrel as a target and began to shoot at it with a 32-calibre Flobert rifle. The target stood near the house. His sister, with a six months old child in her arms, was sitting on a stone wall near by. Mrs. Smith started to go into the house and crossed the line of firing just as her brother pulled the trigger. The bullet entered her temple and lodged in her brain. The child dropped from her arms, but was not injured. The woman staggered a few steps and then dropped dead.

Isinger was arrested, and Coroner Miles committed him to the White Plains jail to await the result of the inquest.

Hoosiers Holding Out.

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 19.—Another convention of Indiana bituminous miners will be held here the coming week. The men have now been out one month, but operators and miners' leaders agree that they are more determined than ever to stay out for the 60-cent rate. The strike has not as yet affected the coal supply to the extent of raising prices. The Indiana block field is busy and the Illinois product is taking the place of much of the Indiana bituminous coal.

With one or two exceptions the operators are standing firm for the 51 cents, and say they will not concede the 60 cent rate until the advance takes place in Ohio and the Pittsburg district in October, according to the agreement recently made at Pittsburg.

Potato Bugs Impede Traffic.

An army of potato bugs, having completed the season's work among the farmers of Long Island, has taken to the railroads, and the insects swarm on the irons in such numbers as to interfere at times with the speed of the trains. Superintendent Larke of the Sea Beach route to Coney Island said yesterday: "The potato bugs began to trouble about five days ago.

"They are as bad as caterpillars, and in each trip over the road we use one box of sand. Even that does not suffice. Yesterday it took one train twenty minutes to make three miles.

"To-day we tried the experiment of attaching brooms to the pilots of the engines, and that worked well."

Shot Her Rival.

Wheeling, Aug. 19.—Miss Allie Cowans, of Barboursville, this state, was shot, but not fatally, by Miss Minnie Blackenship, of Guyandotte, the affair being the result of jealousy. Miss Cowans had gone buggy riding with Miss Blackenship's lover, which so angered her that she loaded a shotgun, and went in pursuit of her rival, firing when she saw her. Before she could fire a second shot she was caught by bystanders and held. An arrest will follow.

NEWS AND OTHER NOTINGS.

—Being seized with cramps while swimming in the river at Plymouth, young Richard Davis was drowned.

—While working on a Pennsylvania railroad train at Columbia, Brakeman William B. Cook of Harrisburg, fell and was cut to pieces.

—Lightning killed a cow at Boliver Run, McKean county, while D. Dykeman and his little son were milking, and both were badly shocked.

—John Wanamaker make $4,000,000 last year in his big Philadelphia store. Mr. Wanamaker is one of the largest newspaper advertisers in the world.

—Mrs. J. T. Long, of Madison, Mo., in despair through separation from her husband, killed her four-year-old child and committed suicide by hanging.

—Charles States and W. G. Spencer, of Flora, Indiana county, and Adam Banks, of Punxsutawney, are under arrest charged with passing counterfeit money.

—In Harlem Samuel Knoepel, 5 years old, fell from a fifth story window last week into a baby carriage standing on the sidewalk. Sammy was uninjured.

—Rosa Sefeik, a Bohemian girl, of Allegheny City, aged 16, became so angry because of the birth of a new sister in the family that she committed suicide.

—German veterans in decorating the graves of fallen comrades of the Franco-Prussian war, east of Metz, also deposited wreaths and flowers on the graves of the French.

—A body of 500 veterans of the Franco-Prussian war, living in Chicago, departed last week for Germany to participate in the celebration of the battle of Sedan, September 2.

—The 13,000 vestmakers in New York and vicinity, who struck Saturday for an increase of 25 per cent., will likely all gain their demand. 14 contractors having already conceded it.

—In a wreck of the Lawrenceburg and Cincinnati accommodation train, near the latter city on Monday, Engineer Harry Becker in Indianapolis was killed. Several passengers were slightly bruised.

—Mrs. Richard King is one of the wealthiest women in Texas. Her landed estate includes about 22 square miles and a congress district. She employs an army of men to work on her property.

—A riot broke up a meeting of the Armenian national union at Chicago Sunday night. One man was carried away insensible and dozens of others were hurt. When the police arrived everybody had gone.

—The free silver conference of Democrats held in Washington, D. C., was slimly attended. It was decided to make an effort to have a free silver plank incorporated in the next Democratic national platform.

—Burglars who entered a Connecticut mansion the other night, not finding any silverware or jewelry, exhibited their dissatisfaction by smashing nearly all the door pannels and the furniture and tearup the carpets.

—It is claimed at Vera Cruz that yellow fever does not attact the natives of that coast. Those subject to the disease are the natives from the interior and foreigners who have taken up their residence near the coast.

—Sam Sheller, colored, arrested for several robberies at Otsego, Mich., was taken from jail by a mob with the intention of lynching him. With the rope around his neck Sheller promised to betray his confederates and his life was spared.

—A German veterinary surgeon has discovered a method by which horseshoes can be successfully manufacturod from paper. The paper is impregnated with turpentine to make it waterproof. The inventor claims that a horse wearing these shoes cannot slip on greasy roads.

—John Martin, of Rawlinsville, Lancaster county, who lives on the Rhinehart farm, has a cucumber in his garden which measures 13½ inches in length and 10 inches in circumference. In his field is a pumpkin which now measures four feet ten and a half inches in circumference.

—Daniel Boone's gun is still carefully preserved. Its stock and barrel are five feet long, and it carries an ounce ball. It is now owned by Nathan Boon Van Bibber, a descendant of the famous Kentucky pioneer, and is in Charleston, W. Va. The original powder horn and bullet mould are with the weapon.

—The Gumry hotel in Denver, Colorado, was destroyed by the explosion of a boiler, on Sunday night. It is supposed twenty-five persons lost their lives by the disaster, and a large number were badly injured. The accident was caused, it is thought, by the carelessness of a drunken engineer, who was one of the victims.

—Cattle and horses in the vicinity of Hustonville, Pa., are being killed by a strange disease. The animals become violent and act as though they had been bitten by some mad animal. They die in great agony. There was a mad dog in the vicinity about two weeks ago and it is blamed with starting the trouble.

—A new magazine rifle, invented by an Italian officer, fires 20 cartridges automatically without requiring any change of position on the part of the soldier. The firing may be intermittent or continuous at will. At a recent trial in the Cascine at Florence, before the Prince of Naples, the 20 shots were fired in two seconds and all hit the target.

—While temporarily insane at Baltimore, Md., on Thursday, Mrs. Bettie North, 27 years old, threw her ten-day-old son from the third story window of her home. As the little one fell on the cobble stones in the street the frenzied mother, clad in her night dress, leaped from the window and fell senseless on the pavement. Both were removed to a hospital, where it is thought they will die from their injuries.

—A violent hailstorm passed over Bradford county on Sunday night. It was accompanied by a heavy rain and considerable wind. At Custer City a village three miles north of Bradford, hailstones measuring three inches in circumference were picked up after the storm had subsided. The ground was covered with hailstones to a depth of two inches. Up the West branch a large quantity of glass was broken in the greenhouses. Crops were badly damaged.

Small Beginnings

Make great endings sometimes. Ailments that we are apt to consider trivial often grow, through neglect, into atrocious maladies, dangerous in themselves and productive of others. It is the disregard of the earlier indications of ill health which leads to the establishment of all sorts of maladies on a chronic basis. Moreover, there are certain disorders incident to the season, such as malaria and rheumatism, against which it is always desirable to fortify the system after exposure to the conditions which produce them. Cold, damp and miasma are surely counteracted by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. After you have incurred risk from these influences, a wineglassful or two of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters directly afterward should be swallowed. For malaria, dyspepsia, liver complaint, kidney and bladder trouble, nervousness and debility it is the most deservedly popular of remedies and preventives. A wineglassful before meals promotes appetite.

—The well on the farm of Mr. George, in Derry township, Westmoreland county, has reached a depth of 1,300 feet and the gas sand has been reached. Important developments are looked for in the near future.

—Those who happen to be overtaken by a severe storm will do well to bear in mind that the shelter of a tree is the most dangerous one that can be selected. A thorough wetting is the surest protection in such.

—Several of the laborers employed on the borough ditch went out on a strike on Wednesday morning—or perhaps were struck out by the contractor would be a better way to put it. Too much booze was the cause.

—A robber broke into the residence of P. B. Zentmyer, at Clearfield a few nights ago and got some money, watches and jewelry. He escaped, but not until he had a scuffle with Mrs. Zentmyer, who displayed considerable nerve.

—George Thomas, son of Water Superintendent Richard Thomas, fell from a roof, a distance of fifteen feet, on Wednesday, alighting on his back. He was picked up unconscious but soon recovered, and was not seriously hurt.

—Samuel Howard, of Morrellville, a suburb of Johnstown, fell from a freight train near Sang Hollow on Saturday night and was killed. He was aged 27 years and is survived by his parents and several brothers and sisters.

—On Friday of last week a runaway horse caused the death of A. K. Bottomfield, a bridge contractor, of Everett, Bedford county. Mr. Bottomfield was a prominent business man of his community and known throughout the county.

—It has been found to be impracticable to clean the Shenkle dam of the logs and stumps without letting the water off and to-day (Thursday) the work of cutting a channel through the breast of the dam for the purpose of draining it was begun.

—Pickpockets, following Buffalo Bill's aggregation, are said to have relieved the people who attended the show at Clearfield of sums which in the aggregate would amount to $5,000. Over one hundred persons suffered from the light fingered gentry at Clearfield.

—A large fan has been put in operation in the McFadden mine, down the Blacklick. A dry kiln and planing mill is being erected, as is also a large storage house for the storing away of machinery which was used by McFadden in the grading of railroads and the building of bridges.

—Harry Hawthorne, of Spangler, who is suspected of being the manufacturer of spurious coin, was arrested by Secret Officer Griffin on Wednesday. He was taken before Commissioner Graffius at Altoona, and in default of $2,000 bail was committed for a hearing on August 29.

—As the result of a petition signed by more than seven hundred taxpayers, the county commissioners have extended the time for securing the discount of 5 per cent on the payment of taxes from the 1st of September until the 1st of October. After the latter date 5 per cent. will be added.

—The sixth annual reunion and picnic of the Emerald Beneficial Association of Blair, Bedford and Cambria counties was held at Emerald Park, Cresson, on Wednesday and was largely attended by members and their families as well as by numbers of others not members of the association.

—Mrs. Hill, wife of Rev. George Hill, of Berlin Heights, Ohio, formerly of Ebensburg, was thrown from a buggy while out driving with another lady on Wednesday of last week and rendered unconscious for a time, but luckily escaped serious injury. The runaway horse broke its leg and had to be shot.

—John Kelly, of Patton, while working in the Pardee colliery near that place on Thursday of last week was caught by a fall of coal and had his collar bone broken besides being badly injured in the spine. After receiving local medical attention he was removed to the Philipsburg hospital for treatment.

—A dispatch from Somerset says that Frank and William Baker were fatally injured by an explosion of dynamite at Shoemaker quarry, that place on Saturday. A blast failed to explode and the men tramped around it, when the stuff let go, hurling them thirty feet in the air. Both were terribly mangled and they cannot recover.

—At the four windows or rather divisions of windows in the pay office of the Cambria Iron Company sums aggregating about $119,000 for two weeks' work were handed out to employes last Saturday afternoon. Were heads of departments, clerks, etc., who were paid by voucher, to be included, the amount would run up to about $121,000.

—According to the Scientific American bicycles are the safest places on earth or in the air during a thunderstorm, because the pneumatic tires filled with air are a perfect insulator, impervious to the attacks of the electric fluid. While the chance of the ordinary biped being struck by lightning is one in ten million, that of the bicyclist is as one in a billion.

—Thursday night, during the absence of Mr and Mrs. R. R. Tibbott at the reunion of the Tibbotts in Ebensburg, burglars entered their residence on the hillside above Beam school house, in Lower Yoder township, by smashing in the doors. Miss Flora Beam and the three Tibbott children were in the house at the time, and their cries for help frightened the intruders away before they secured anything.—Johnstown Tribune.

—Work was commenced last Monday morning on the new railroad extending from Altoona to Philipsburg, which is known as the Altoona & Philipsburg railroad. The new line will intersect at Philipsburg with the Beech Creek railroad, which extends by connections with the Reading roads to Philadelphia. The road, when completed, opens valuable bituminous coal, timber and farm lands for that section of Pennsylvania.

—An Italian accompanied by alleged performing bear, visited the surrounding towns last week. The "animal" seemed to be wonderfully well trained and his owner reaped a rich harvest. When the shades of night drew near the Italian and his trained companion repaired to a secluded spot near the county home to roost for the night, when the alleged bear was seen to step out of his hide and assist in counting the day's proceeds.—Greensburg Argus.

—The Gosling says "the battle of 1896 will be in the cause of Protection," and an editor who asserts that "it was the McKinley bill that created the fullness in the treasury during Cleveland's first term" probably knows more about Protection than anyone else. It is a good thing thing that we now have the issue laid down from an authoritive source and know exactly what we have to contend against. We were under the impression that Protection was dead but the Gosling can still see some signs of life in its tail.

—The delegates to the Republican state convention from this county, Messrs. Jesse Dale, of Patton; Peter Campbell, of Carrolltown, and Campbell Robinson, of Johnstown, have been all along claimed by both the Quay and Hastings factions. The FREEMAN sometime ago predicted that they would land in the Quay garden, and up to this date we see no reason to change the prediction. In the improbable event of a Republican president being elected it will be Quay's side of the bread that will have the butter on.

—Henry Flitz and his six-year-old son, William, of Hollidaysburg, were in the city yesterday. William attracted considerable attention owing to his avoirdupois. The boy is almost seven years of age and stands three feet eleven and three-forth inches high. He weighs 125 pounds and measures thirty-eight inches around the waist and eighteen inches around the calf of the leg. The boy has just recovered from an attack of scarlet fever. His father stated that his sickness did not make him lose the least particle of flesh. He has continued to grow heavier.—Altoona Times.

—On Sunday afternoon R. L. George and family started out for a drive behind his fine team of bays, one of which was an exceptionally good mare. They drove to Loretto and upon leaving for home Mr. George noticed that the mare seemed to be sick but never thought anything dangerous was wrong. When a short distance out of Loretto the mare fell over and in about 20 minutes was dead. The cause of the animal's death was either colic or inflamation of the bowels. The mare was a good one and was a safe family horse and Mr. George deeply regrets his loss.—Gallitzin Times.

—Melvin D. Crum, son of Allison H. Crum, was instantly killed by lightning on Friday afternoon about three o'clock while plowing in a field near his home a short distance from Markiesburg, Huntingdon county. Both horses were also killed. The storm had been gathering for some time, and the young man not apprehending danger, continued plowing. He and the horses were struck by a bolt of lightning that preceded the storm. It was not known that anything serious had occurred until the young man failed to come to his supper at the usual time. His father started in search of him and found him dead in the field.

—On Sunday last while Mrs. Elmira Heinbaugh, of Lower Turkeyfoot township, Somerset county, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Coughenour, and her five-year-old grandson, of Scottdale, was driving through Confluence the horse attached to the buggy in which they were seated stepped upon a hoop. The hoop became entangled about the horse's legs and the animal began kicking vigorously to free itself. It its struggle it struck young Coughenour on the head, fracturing his skull and inflicting injuries that caused death on Monday. Mrs. Heinbaugh was also kicked on the leg, sustaining the fracture of that member.

—On Friday last information was made before and warrants issued by United States Commissioner Graffius at Altoona, charging certain parties with passing or having in their possession counterfeit coins. Saturday afternoon United States Marshal Griffin arrived there with four men who had been arrested on the charges. They were placed in the Altoona lock-up over night and on Monday morning were taken to Hollidaysburg to await hearings. Their names and the times set for their hearings are: Charles States and U. G. Spencer, of Flora, Indiana county; time, August 20th. B. F. White, of Burnside, Clearfield county; time, August 21st. Adam Banks, of Punxsutawney, Jefferson county; time, August 28th.

—Mr. William Goss, of Jeffries, had an experience with a rattlesnake one day last week which causes him to shudder whenever he thinks of it. He was out gathering berries, and happened to tramp on the snake, which immediately sank its fangs in one of his shoes and coiled around his ankle. He managed to kick it off and attempted to seize a large rock to throw at it, when he discovered a huge yellow rattler under the rock. Securing another stone he killed the one which had first attacked him, then followed up the good work by destroying the yellow one and another, while a fourth made its escape. Then William concluded he was tired picking berries, and went home.—Houtzdale Observer.

Correspondence.

Flinton, Pa., Aug. 19, 1895.

ED. FREEMAN:—A word to the wise, etc. What I mean by that is that all persons who have aspirations for the office of county treasurer, which will be voted for next year, may perhaps as well pu't off, as E. F. Spencer, of Hastings, was canvassing in this part of the county for the nomination for that office, asking the support of not only Republicans but Democrats as well, and saying to a prominent Democrat "I want you to keep still till after the nomination and then I don't care what you say as the Barkers are for me and if I can make the nomination I am all right. Flory Barker has already employed me to collect the taxes in this part of the county and you can see from that that the Barkers are for me." As much as to say that the Barkers hold the votes of Cambria county in the hollow of their hands, "as it were," and can throw the office to the south or north of the county just as as they desire. It is believed here that the Messrs. Barkers are strictly opposed to any candidate using their name in a boastful way while canvassing for the nomination for any office.

E. F. Spencer is well known in this part of the county, especially in Reade township, and with the Hollen support from this township, may cut quite a figure in the nomination. FARMER.

Fire in Cambria Township.

On Sunday evening about 7 o'clock William Makin, who resides on what is known as the Evan R. Bennett farm, about three miles north of Ebensburg, discovered smoke issuing from the roof of his dwelling in the opposite end from the chimney. A hasty investigation disclosed the fact that a fire was raging in the attic and as there were none of the family at home but himself, and no water but a few buckets in the spring, he knew that there was no possibility of saving the house. He gave the farm bell a few taps and then went to work to throw out the furniture, clothing, etc. A number of neighbors and people who were passing on the public road near by gathered to his assistance and most of the furniture was gotten out but in a badly wrecked condition.

Five bedsteads, a large box containing all the best clothing of the family, and a number of other articles were destroyed.

There was no insurance on the contents of the house and the loss is a severe one to Mr. Maken, as he was burned out three years ago and at that time lost everything.

The house was a log building, erected many years ago and belonged to the heirs of the late Evan R. Bennett.

Killed on the Railroad.

Charles W. Shingle, a brakeman on the Pennsylvania railroad, whose home is in Altoona, was killed near South Fork on Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Shingle was on a train going west and when near that place attempted, while standing on top of a box car, to tighten a brake, when his brake-stick broke and he fell between the cars of the moving train. As he fell he must have struck his forehead, for there was an ugly gash above the eyes. The skull, however, was not fractured. His left leg was crushed from the knee down, showing that the wheels of the car had passed over it. There were no other injuries to be seen on the man's body except a few slight cuts and bruises, and as neither the wound on his forehead nor the crush of his leg was sufficient to cause death, he probably died from the shock of the accident. After he was taken from under the train he lived about thirty minutes. The deceased leaves a wife and five sons, the eldest of whom is 15 years old and the youngest 2 years.

The Mahaffey Catastrophe.

Five men were killed outright and three seriously affected by inhaling poisonous gas or black damp, while working in a deep rock cut on the Pittsburg & Eastern railroad at McGee's Mills, Clearfield county, on Friday.

The names of the dead are: James Quinn, foreman, of Mifflin, married; William Brick, shovelman, of Lunday, N. Y., married; William Stevens, Philadelphia, engineer of the steam shovel; Charles Harriety, Ninevah, Pa., laborer. The remains of a Hungarian, whose names could not be learned, were taken to Coalport and interred in the Catholic cemetery.

Contractor John McManus was overcome and narrowly escaped death while trying to rescue his men. Edward Clark also had a close call, and James Bryson, of Philadelphia, came near suffocating while endeavoring to rescue the other workmen. Contractors and physicians did all in their power to resusitate the victims, but to no avail.

A blast of three or four hundred kegs of powder had recently been put off, and the men had gone to perform their several duties, when one at a time they would fall and succumb mysteriously. Five were dead before the others knew of it.

The poisonous gas arose from beneath the rock from a mine which had been abandoned about 20 years.

W. W. McQuown, justice of the peace, of Mahaffey, acted as coroner. He impanelled a jury and rendered a verdict that the deaths were caused in accordance with the above facts.

Why Barreled Apples Keep.

If apples were placed loosely in barrels they would soon rot, though passing over only a very short distance of travel; and yet, when properly barreled, they can be sent thousands of miles, even over the roughest ocean voyage, in perfect security. This is owing to a fact discovered years ago, without anyone knowing the reason, that an apple rotted from a bruise when the skin was broken. An apple can be pressed so as to have indentations over its whole surface without any danger of rotting, providing the skin is not broken. In barreling apples, therefore, gentle pressure is exercised, so that the fruit is fairly pressed into each other and it is impossible for anyone fruit to change its place in the barrel on it journey. In these modern times we understand the reason. The atmosphere is full of microscopic germs which produce fermentation, and unless they can gain an entrance into the fruit, rot cannot take place. A mere indentation without a rupture of the outer skin does not permit of the action of these microbes.

Last of the Season.

The last of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's select excursions to Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Avalon, Anglesea, Wildwood and Holly Beach will be run on Thursday, August 29.

The tickets will permit of a stay of nearly two weeks, and a choice of either of the seashore points named above will be allowed. A special train of parlor cars and day coaches will leave Pittsburg on the above date at 8:50 A. M. and the time from other stations will be as follows:

	Rate.	Train leaves.
Johnstown	$0.25	11:05 A. M.
Cresson	8.50	11:50 A. M.
*Altoona	8.00	12:45 P. M.
Philadelphia	Ar.	6:46 P. M.

*Stop for dinner.

Passengers can spend the night in the city and proceed to the shore by any regular train of the following day.

For further information apply to ticket agents, or Mr. Thomas E. Watt, District Passenger Agent, Pittsburg.

Two Papers for $2.

The twice-a-week edition of the New York World has been converted in the thrice-a-week. It furnishes 3 papers of 6 pages apiece, or eighteen pages every week, at the old price of one dollar a year. This gives 156 pages a year for one dollar and every paper has 6 pages eight columns wide and 48 columns in all. The thrice-a-week World is not much larger than any weekly or semi-weekly newspaper, but it furnishes the news with much greater frequency and promptness. In fact it combines all the crisp, fresh qualities of a daily with the attractive special features of a weekly. Subscribers to the FREEMAN can receive the thrice-a-week World and the FREEMAN for only $2 a year. This is an offer every person should take advantage of. Four papers every week for only $2. Send all subscriptions to this office.

County Fair at Ebensburg.

For the county fair at Ebensburg, Pa., on August 27, 28, 29 and 30 the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets to Ebensburg and return on above-named dates from all stations on the C. & C. division, and from Johnstown, Altoona and intermediate stations at reduced rates, good to return until August 31 inclusive.

—The bridge across the Blacklick on the township road at Twin Rocks, dropped into the stream on Saturday of last week.

—The Pennsylvania Midland railroad contractors have now about thirteen miles of track laid. They also have the telegraph poles up and have complete one water tank.

DENTISTRY.

Do you know we are taking out teeth every day without one particle of pain?

Well, we are doing this very thing with "Odontunder;" the only local anæsthetic that has stood the test and to-day it is the only one that is used universally by dentists who are up to date in their calling.

The price for "Odontunder" when painless is 50 cents, but if you experience the least pain, we only charge you the usual price, 25 cents.

How about those teeth that need filling? Well, you say they don't ache. That's just the reason why you should have them filled now. After they have ached once you will probably have to have the nerve killed and the tooth treated if you are desirous of saving it. I only charge 50 cents for amalgum fillings and from $1.00 up for gold fillings. These are hard-time prices but they go just the same. Why procrastinate?—that's a big word but it's a good one right here because procrastination means to the patient loss of sleep, neuralgia, ear-ache, tooth-ache and goodness knows what else. We know of a good many young ladies of our acquaintance who would have been married long ago if it hadn't been for those horrid-looking teeth. Remember, to every patient having teeth filled I give a box of Dr. Richards' tooth powder and full instructions for the care of the teeth. On the 13th of each month I will extract teeth free of charge. You say why on the 13th. Well, now, that's my business. All you have to do is to come. Remember I won't take out your good teeth, because I don't believe in it. Then you say suppose the 13th falls on Sunday. Come right along and we will be only too glad to relieve you of the offending member.

THE KEELEY CURE

Is a special boon to business men who, having drifted unconsciously into the drink habit and awaken to find the disease of alcoholism fastened upon them, rendering them unfit to manage affairs requiring a clear brain. A four weeks course of treatment at the

PITTSBURG KEELEY INSTITUTE,
No. 4246 Fifth Avenue,

restores to them all their powers, mental and physical, destroys the abnormal appetite, and restores them to the condition they were in before they indulged in stimulants. This has been done in more than 1600 cases treated here, and among them some of your own neighbors, to whom we can refer with confidence as to the absolute safety and efficiency of the Keeley Cure. The fullest and most searching investigation is invited. Send for pamphlet giving full information.

BRIGHTER FOR QUAY.

Thought to Have Won 22 Delegates In Philadelphia.

HAS PROBABLY WON HIS FIGHT.

A Belief That He Now Has Enough Delegates to Elect Him Chairman of the State Committee—The Delegates Selected In Several Counties.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—The indications are that at the Republican primaries, held to select 70 delegates to the state convention, and also to choose candidates for various city offices, the Quay faction have certainly elected 18 delegates, and possibly 22, with one or two districts with five additional delegates in doubt. The anti-Quay people concede the senator 16 votes.

The result was in some respects a surprise to Senator Quay, himself, who did not expect to overcome the influence that would be brought to bear against him in certain localities. The 37 wards of the city are grouped into 28 legislative districts and these elected from one to seven delegates each. The hottest fights were in the Fifteenth ward, in which Mayor Warwick resides, and the West Philadelphia wards, the Twenty-fourth and Thirty-fourth. In the former the mayor was badly beaten, the Quay forces, headed by Alexander Crow, Jr., carrying 27 out of 42 divisions, with contests in two. In West Philadelphia, State Senator Thomas, the Quay man, won his fight handsomely, notwithstanding the fact that David Martin, the anti-Quay leader in this city, took personal charge of the fight during the past week.

The Quay men claim to have carried 21 out of 52 divisions, with seven in doubt. If this version of the result is verified, Quay will have 22 delegates from this city. The Quayites also claim that the Twenty-second, Twenty-third and Thirty-fifth wards, electing five delegates, are in doubt.

The contest practically closes the fight in the state, Lehigh being the only remaining county to elect delegates. It appears almost certain that Senator Quay has won his fight for the state chairmanship, with some votes to spare. A conservative estimate gives him 160 votes in the convention, 15 more than the number necessary to elect. The senator last night occupied his suite of rooms in the Metropole hotel, and a constant stream of visitors passed in and out, congratulating him upon his victory. He declined to be interviewed, saying that he would not speak for publication until after the convention, which meets at Harrisburg on Aug 28.

He was elated at the result of the primaries and replied good naturedly to the compliments that were showered upon him. The contest attracted to the city politicians of all degrees from all over the state. These crowded the headquarters of the two factions and eagerly watched the returns.

Senator Penrose, who, more than any one else, precipitated the fight, carried his ward, the Eighth, by a vote of 13 to 8, and will go to the convention as a delegate.

John Russell Young ran as a Quay candidate in his own ward. This ward is presided over by Sheriff Clement who did not permit Mr. Young to carry a single division.

It was stated at the Quay headquarters that two of the four delegates from Northampton county and one from Cearfield county, have deserted the anti-Quay candidate for state Chairman B F Gilkeson.

MINNIE WILLIAMS NOT DEAD.

She Sends a Telegram to Holmes' Attorney From Providence, R. I.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—W. A. Shoemaker, the attorney for H. H. Holmes, accused of a score of murders, has received a telegram purporting to come from Minnie R. Williams, one of Holmes' alleged victims. It was sent from Providence, R. I., and read as follows: "Reports that I was murdered absurd. Am alive and well."

When the message was shown to Holmes, he said excitedly: "I knew my story that I did not kill the girl would be confirmed."

Attorney W. A. Capps, the Fort Worth attorney who has been here in the interest of the Texas people, who are trying to prosecute Holmes, was on his way to take a train from New York when told that Minnie Williams had been reported alive. He said: "I never thought she was dead. The Fort Worth people think she is alive; but it seems mighty hard to locate her. She may be somewhere near Boston. She has many friends there. I would not be surprised if the telegram, you say has been received from her, is correct."

Assistant District Attorney Barlow would not say whether he thought the telegram was genuine or false. He admitted, however, that he would not be astonished if Minnie Williams appeared on the scene at any time.

THE BRADDOCK DISASTER.

Eight Killed and Eight Injured at Furnace H. of the Carnegie Company.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 21.—The explosion at furnace H. of the Carnegie company, at Braddock, was due to a "hang" in the furnace. A force of 16 men were sent to the top of the furnace to get the bell in working order. While they were at work an explosion occurred inside of the furnace. The list of dead is as follows:

John Prokopovi, aged 27, married, wife in Austria; Joseph Luckai, aged 45, married, wife and three children in Braddock; Stefan Havrila, aged 32, married, wife and three children in Braddock; Joseph Csop, aged 31, single. Michael Kapinos, aged 26, wife in old country; Andrew Drobnak, aged 35, wife and three children in Braddock. John Mika, aged 28, married, family in Austria; John Gregnow, wife and two children in Braddock.

The injured at the Mercy hospital are John Wral, John Skerta, Michael Juri, Andrew Drabone, James Harrison, Michael Kajaros, John Majasky and John Bray.

An Embezzling Cashier Sentenced.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—Thomas M. Grady, the former cashier of the First National bank of Marietta, Pa., has been found guilty in the United States district court of embezzlement and misapplying funds of the bank, and has been sentenced by Judge Butler to pay a fine of $100 on the first charge and undergo imprisonment of seven years on the other charge. Grady's embezzlement amounted to $30,000, but he made good $20,000 of this amount.

Says He Struck the Fatal Blow.

DETROIT, Aug. 21.—Frank A Fassnacht has announced to the police that he was the person who struck the blow which resulted in John Stafferson's death early last Sunday morning. Fassnacht says Stafferson persisted in following himself and the lady whom he was escorting, until his conduct became unbearable. Fassnacht has not been arrested or detained.

Endorsed Quay For Chairman

LEWISTON, Pa., Aug. 21.—The Republican county convention was a continuous fight. Resolution were passed endorsing the Hastings administration and Senator Quay for chairman of the state committee.

CAMPBELL IS THE MAN.

Ohio Democrats Will Nominate Him at Their Convention Today.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 21.—The Ohio Democratic convention convened at 10 o'clock this morning, Senator Brice presiding as temporary chairman and later as permanent chairman.

The Brice men control all the committees, but did not exercise their power in unseating opponents in the committee on credentials. They made Senator Brice permanent as well as temporary chairman of the convention and continued the temporary organization throughout. So far as the ticket is concerned the talk is for nothing but the old tickets of 1889 and 1891, which means Campbell for governor and Marquis for lieutenant governor. And it is understood that ex-Governor Campbell has been assured of such financial and other support as to secure his acceptance.

When the committee on resolutions met, ex-Congressman Frank Hurd, who is as radical for a gold standard as for free trade, was made chairman, and it was found that J. M. Lewis of the Eighth, A. W. Patrick of the Seventeenth and E. J. Blandin of the Twenty-first district were the only free silver men on that committee of 21 members. The committee on resolutions appointed a sub-committee of five to draw up a platform, on which the opposition was given a representation, and which was instructed to reaffirm the national financial plank of 1892, which Senator Brice says the president and Secretary Carlisle had interpreted to mean a gold standard.

It was also instructed to endorse the tariff bill passed by the last congress and the national administration and the record of Senator Brice. Strong speeches were made for the resolutions of the silver men, but it was not incorporated in the instructions to the framers of the platform. It will be incorporated in the majority report of Blandin, Lewis and Patrick, and it is thought the vote will be 600 for the majority report and 200 for the minority report. The platform will arraign Governor McKinley's state administration severely and point to the revival of business as the effect of Democratic rule and legislation, and to the depression of 1893 and 1894, as the effect of previous Republican legislation. The recent Republican legislatures will be severely arraigned on charges of extravagance and restrictive legislation.

The Kriegerbund Convention.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 21.—In the Krieger bund convention National President J. Wahrath welcomed 142 delegates and delivered his annual address. Treasurer Julius Eggers of Chicago reported money on hand last year $1,961; received during the year, $1,001; disbursed, $666; balance, $1,566. Among the questions up for debate is this one: "Shall members be compelled, as now, to accept life insurance and subscribe to a St. Louis paper, the organ of the Band?"

The Porte Rejects Foreign Control.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 21.—The porte's last reply to the envoys of the powers on the subject of reforms in Armenia, mentions only the reforms of secondary importance and rejects the demands of the powers for the exercise of foreign control over the execution of the proposed reforms, claiming that it would be fatal to the sovereignty of the sultan and the independent Turkish empire.

FRANCE WANTS TIME.

Says Waller Case Documents Are Hard to Get.

EUSTIS URGED TO BE ACTIVE.

The State Department Resolved to Press the Matter to a Conclusion—Woodford Rescued Waller's Family to Prevent Outrages on His Daughters.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—The Gilblas says that an important conference has taken place between United States Ambassador Eustis and M. Benoit, in which the latter said that however desirous the government might be of satisfying the demands made from Washington it would take time to get the documents bearing upon the case from Madagascar. Mr. Waller is reported to be in an advanced stage of consumption.

A London special says: Mr. Ethelbert Woodford, the American who assisted Mrs. Waller and children out of Madagascar, is here. According to Mr. Woodford, the sole evidence against the ex-consul was embodied in letters to his wife and from a Nova friend, wherein the occupation of Madagascar by the French was discussed and description given of alleged outrages upon women.

Mr. Woodford declares, however, that the real cause for the French action against Consul Waller is the fact that he had obtained valuable concessions from the Hovas, and that Mr. Waller had received his exequatur from the Hova government though opposed by the French, who hold the right to determine who shall be the consul at Tamatave.

Said he: "The heavy additional expense of rescuing the Waller family was unexpected to me. I could not, however, do otherwise. There were grown up girls in the family, and I knew the fate that would be in store for them when the French should occupy the capital. So I took them to Mauritius."

A Washington special says: The state department has not abated its interest in the Waller case, but it is firmly resolved to actively press the matter to a conclusion. A dispatch in line with this policy has been sent to Ambassador Eustis.

CHINA WILL KNUCKLE UNDER.

She Has Refused Before to Allow Foreigners to Investigate Riots.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The state department has received information confirming the news given in the dispatches yesterday, that there is no disposition on the part of the Chinese officials not to allow the American and British officers to be present at the investigation of the Ku-Cheng riots. In every case where there has been an investigation of the kind proposed the same objections have been made, the Chinese officials feeling that they will lose prestige with their people if they allow foreigners to participate in their courts. These objections have always ended in the submission of the Chinese after some delay. It can be stated authoritatively that the instructions to Minister Denby cover all questions now in controversy, and that the investigation will be conducted in such manner as to allow the American representative to secure complete and full information as to the cause of the riots and the persons participating in them, whether high or low.

The assurance is also given that this will be done in such a manner as to leave nothing for complaint by the American people on the score of failure to obtain the facts relating to the disturbances. It is understood that the Chinese minister has informed his government that the best interests of China will be served by according to the American and British officers, the most thorough facilities for obtaining all information desired. The attention of China has been called to the fact that when the United States government was investigating the Chinese riots in this country officials of the Chinese government were asked to be present to obtain all the particulars.

A London special says: Sir N. R. O'Connor, British minister at Pekin, has been armed with full authority to demand the issue of the necessary instructions to the local Chinese officials there to insure the presence of the American and British consuls at the inquiry which is being made at Ku-Cheng into the recent massacres.

SYNDICATE WATCHFUL.

Prevents Gold Seserve From Going Below $100,000,000.

A DEPOSIT OF $2,000,000 MADE.

This Is Done to Offset a Heavy Withdrawal Made For Shipment to Europe. $2,850,000 Taken Out From the New York Sub-Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The gold syndicate has prevented the gold reserve from falling below the $100,000,000 mark. When the treasury department received word that $2,850,000 in gold had been withdrawn for export from the sub-treasury in New York the treasury officials found the reserve had thus been reduced to $99,677,148. A few minutes afterward, however, Acting Secretary Curtis received a telegram saying that Mr. Pierpont Morgan of the syndicate had deposited $2,000,000 in gold in exchange for greenbacks. This deposit swelled the reserve to $101,677,148.

The officials at the department display no apprehensions as to the gold reserve, and intimate that the syndicate will continue to make deposits to offset withdrawls. But they decline to express their reasons for their faith, and the question raised constantly is as to the pledge under which the syndidate is making these deposits and the period it covers, as well as the ability of the syndidate to continue to protect the reserve. But little light can be shed on these questions, however, as it is said that probably only two government officials, President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle, know the written part of the agreement made with the syndicate which secured the last issue of bonds. The syndicate has so far voluntarily deposited about $8,000,000 in gold.

The manner in which the syndicate has accumulated the gold which it has voluntarily exchanged at the treasury for greenbacks is not absolutely known, as the syndicate does not make public its operations, but at the treasury department it is believed that most of it is obtained by giving exchange on San Francisco and by buying bullion checks. The circulation in San Francisco is practically all gold. The movement of money is east, as a result of which San Francisco exchange on New York is usually at a premium, equal to the cost of the transportation of gold across the continent.

For the same reason New York exchange on San Francisco is often at a slight discount, although just now it is at par. By offering exchange on San Francisco therefore the syndicate can accumulate large quantities of gold in San Francisco at practically no expense. The syndicate can also procure gold by buying bullion checks issued for bullion deposited at the assay offices and the government mints. These, at the present time, will result in a demand for gold, bringing a premium. It is not believed, however, that the syndicate is put to much expense in accumulating in this fashion, practically the entire product of the American gold mines, which averages usually about $35,000,000 a year.

SETTLERS MAY BE PUNISHED

Department of Justice Asked to Investigate Murder of Bannock Indians.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The question of what action should be taken by the government in connection with the killing of the Bannock Indians, in the Jacksons Hole country on July 13 last, has been referred to the department of justice. It is understood that a communication on the subject has been forwarded, which recites the circumstances in the case and ends with a strong recommendation for an investigation of the matter by the department of justice. It is understood that the attorney general was asked to send special agents to Jacksons Hole and that the services of the Indian inspectors were offered as assistants.

It is believed that the arrest of certain settlers by the United States authorities has been recommended, so that the case may be brought into court and the relative weight of the treaty with the Bannocks and of the laws of Wyoming may be judicially determined.

WELL BRED SOON WED."

Girls who use SAPOLIO are QUICKLY MARRIED

SAPOLIO is one of the best known city luxuries and each time a cake is used an hour is saved. On floors tables and painted work it acts like a charm. For scouring pots, pans and metals it has no equal. If your store-keeper does not keep it you should insist upon his doing so, as it always gives satisfaction and its immense sale all over the United States makes it an almost necessary article to any well supplied store. Everything shines after its use, and even the children delight in using it in their attempts to help around the house.

ASK YOUR HORSESHOER FOR THE NEVERSLIP

THE ONLY SHOE FOR WINTER USE.

It ABSOLUTELY prevents slipping, and insures perfect safety and comfort to horse and driver.

Shod with the "Neverslip," your horse's feet are always in good condition—kept so by not having to constantly remove the shoes for sharpening.
